

FRIDAY UPDATE: SEPTEMBER 14, 2012

One of the resources utilized by handicappers is the public betting information offered by a variety of sources. Leading the way is Sportsbook.com, which offers up this data on both its .net and .com Web sites. Boasting massive sports betting customer databases, Sportsbook.com is able to present statistics that are accurately reflective of public sentiment, and hence useful to the handicapper studying them. These betting trends tell what percentage of bets is being placed on each side of a point spread and total.

This data can be used to profit from. Most "sharps," when given the option, choose to be on the side of the bookmaker, or opposite that of the betting public. However, that side doesn't always win, and some bettors believe in the theory that there is "strength in numbers"—that group would rather follow the big money. By following these betting trends consistently, you'll be able to form your own opinion. Here's a look at some of this week's college football line movement and betting trends so that you can see which way the public is leaning heading into the weekend.

KEY WEEK 2 NFL INJURIES

SAN DIEGO RB Ryan Mathews (clavicle) might actually play on Sunday, according to the San Diego Union-Tribune. He practiced on Thursday and says he's ready to return, but head coach Norv Turner hasn't made a decision on his playing status. Teammate TE Antonio Gates (ribs) did not practice Wednesday or Thursday, but expects to start . . . TENNESSEE WR Kenny Britt (knee) expects to play limited snaps on Sunday as he works his way back from a torn ACL . . . PHILADELPHIA WRs Jeremy Maclin (hip pointer) and DeSean Jackson (hamstring) both missed Thursday's practice, but head coach Andy Reid thinks both will be starting for him on Sunday . . . INDIANAPOLIS WR Austin Collie (concussions) was held out of Thursday's practice and is questionable to play in Week 2. DE Dwight Freeney (ankle) hasn't practiced since Tuesday, and speculation is that he won't play until Week 4 . . . WASHINGTON WR Pierre Garcon (foot) will be a game-time decision for Sunday's contest, as his injury is too painful to go full speed right now . . . SEATTLE RB Marshawn Lynch (back spasms) was not able to fully practice on Thursday but does expect to start against Dallas. WR Sidney Rice (knee) did not practice at all on Thursday and his status for Sunday is uncertain at this time . . . CAROLINA RB Jonathan Stewart (ankle) was unable to go full speed at Thursday's practice, but he should be able to play on Sunday, possibly in a limited role. WR Steve Smith (knee) left Thursday's practice after experiencing soreness on the same knee he was wearing a brace on the day before . . . PITTSBURGH RB Jonathan Dwyer (foot) practiced fully on Thursday and should be ready to be the team's featured running back in Week 2 . . . ARIZONA QB John Skelton (ankle) will miss Sunday's game in New England, leaving Kevin Kolb as the team's starter . . . OAKLAND WR Denarius Moore (hamstring) practiced on a limited basis Thursday and expects to play in Sunday's game . . . DETROIT WR Calvin Johnson (foot) returned to practice on Thursday and will be ready to play on Sunday night . . . ATLANTA WR Roddy White (groin) was limited in Thursday's practice, and his status for Monday night is uncertain.
