Note that the point edge between the Power Rating Line and the actual opening line is denoted for the team with the edge. Use the W/L column to keep track of the winners

Statfox NFL Outplay Factor Rating Lines - Week 9

 The Outplay Factor Ratings made famous by StatFox are a great Team Strength Indicator as they provide a quantitative measure of how teams are outplaying (+ value) or being outplayed by (- value) their opponents. They are determined by a complicated formula that takes into account a team's points for/against as compared to how their previous opponents have fared. Here are the StatFox Team Outplay Factor Ratings and the corresponding game lines derived from them. Note that the point edge between the Outplay Factor Rating Line and the actual opening line is denoted for the team with the edge. Use the W/L column to keep track of the winners and losers.

GAME BREAKDOWN: San Diego was atrocious on offense in the slop at Cleveland last week, managing 265 yards of offense and just two field goals in a 7-6 loss. The Chargers absolutely drilled the Chiefs in K.C. in Week 4, 37-20, though they were set up with short fields thanks to six Chiefs turnovers. K.C. QB Brady Quinn left last week's game with what was called a "head injury," and Matt Cassel took the field and committed two of the Chiefs' three turnovers in a 26-16 home loss to Oakland. Cassel has 16 TOs in five and a half games. The Chargers have four SU home wins in a row over K.C., though the Chiefs covered in two of those.

GAME BREAKDOWN: The Broncos continue to make strides in their first season under Peyton Manning. They're coming off a dominating win over New Orleans, and they've won three of four SU and ATS, with a +52 point differential in those four games. The Bengals had serious problems moving the ball in their last game, a home loss to Pittsburgh, as the Steelers simply doubled WR A.J. Green and QB Andy Dalton played his worst game (14-28, 105 yards) in what has been a very bad sophomore season. The Broncos will surely use that strategy. The Bengals had a bye week to try to correct their many issues on both sides of the ball.

GAME BREAKDOWN: These teams played a close game in their first meeting, as Cleveland had a chance to drive for a tying TD in the final minute of a 23-16 loss at Baltimore. Since then, the Browns have grabbed two victories, including a strong defensive effort on a sloppy field over the Chargers last week. The Ravens, coming off a bye, were crushed at Houston in their last game. Cleveland RB Trent Richardson's injured ribs looked fine in their win over the Chargers. The Ravens will continue to be without defensive leader LB Ray Lewis and CB Lardarius Webb, their best corner. Baltimore has won four in a row, SU and ATS, at Cleveland.

GAME BREAKDOWN: The Packers look to continue their recent surge when they host Arizona. Green Bay has won three in a row SU (2-1 ATS), though their offense showed the effects of their rash of injuries last week. WR Jordy Nelson (hamstring) may be ready to return, but WR Greg Jennings (hernia) is almost certain to miss another game. The Cardinals have been shaky on the road since their upset in New England in Week 2, getting manhandled in St. Louis and losing in Minnesota (both ATS losses). Their pass rush has given a couple of opponents some fits, and could frustrate a suspect Packers o-line.

GAME BREAKDOWN: The Bears are coming off a couple of gutsy home wins, winning ugly over the Lions then coming back to beat the Panthers in a short week. They continue to thrive off turnovers, forcing at least two in every game this season. The Titans, however, have gone two straight games without a turnover. Tennessee is coming off a bad home loss to the Colts, allowing a weak Indy running game to rack up 171 yards and 5.0 YPC. The Bears had to abandon the running game after falling behind to Carolina, but they had 192.5 YPG over the previous two with a now fully healthy RB Matt Forte.

GAME BREAKDOWN: Both of these franchises have turned things around nicely behind rookie quarterbacks. The Colts are 3-1 SU and ATS at home in Year 1 of the Andrew Luck era, the lone loss coming when Jacksonville's late, long TD pass beat them. This will be the Dolphins' first trip to Indy since 2006. Miami has been very good on the road, crushing the Jets in Jersey last week for their second SU road win in a row, and third straight ATS victory. Early reports are that QB Ryan Tannehill (knee) escaped major injury last week.

GAME BREAKDOWN: The NFL's top dual threat quarterbacks go head-to-head in this one, and both will appreciate a chance to face a feeble defense. Robert Griffin III was contained by an elite defense in sloppy weather on the road in Pittsburgh last week, but he and the Redskins should have little trouble moving the ball against a struggling Panthers defense. The Panthers played arguably their best game of the season last week, losing in Chicago on a last-second field goal. But while Cam Newton threw for 314 yards, he was just 20-for-39 and was intercepted twice, including a pick six.

GAME BREAKDOWN: The Lions have a chance to build a little bit of momentum after another last-second win last week. After a disappointing start to the year, QB Matthew Stafford and the Lions passing game finally got it going, as Stafford threw for 352 yards and accounted for four TDs against an excellent Seattle defense last week. WR Calvin Johnson is hampered by a sore knee, but Detroit finally got WR Titus Young (9 rec, 100 yards, 2 TDs) going. The Jags have the NFL's worst offense and will continue to play without RB Maurice Jones-Drew (foot). Though their underrated defense held the Packers in check at Green Bay last week.

GAME BREAKDOWN: The Texans have been dominant in six of their seven games this year, and they seem to match up great against a Bills team with some serious flaws. Arian Foster and Houston's elite running game should shred a Bills defense that's allowing 176.9 YPG and 6.0 YPC. Both teams are coming off a bye week, but the Bills' defense seems to have too many issues to fix in an extra week off. Buffalo could give the Texans a taste of their own medicine as they've talked of going run-heavy with Fred Jackson and C.J. Spiller. It's the Bills best hope to keep Houston from pulling away.

Their running game is also clicking despite injuries; Jonathan Dwyer has gone for 229 rushing yards and 6.7 YPC over the past two weeks. GAME BREAKDOWN

It's getting close to do-or-die time for both these teams, and they both looked awful last week. The Eagles let Atlanta jump all over them at home, their third SU loss in a row, and they're rumored to be ready to turn to rookie QB Nick Foles. QB Michael Vick didn't turn it over last week, but he reportedly made multiple mistakes changing plays. Philly fired defensive coordinator Juan Castillo during their bye week but still allowed 392 yards and 30 points at home to Atlanta. New Orleans struggled in Denver, with TE Jimmy Graham clearly hampered by his ankle injury. Their defense is still the worst in the NFL, even with the return of LB Jonathan Vilma and DE Will Smith, as they allowed 500-plus yards each of the past two weeks and they've yet to hold an opponent under 400.

StatFox Dave

StatFox Dave is one of the original four founders of StatFox and over the years has been renowned for his handicapping prowess in all sports. Anyone who signed up for our NBA postseason Best Bets certainly knows that to be true, as Dave racked up an astounding 66% success rate on Best Bets during the NBA postseason. Dave has been stellar in his college picks over the past six weeks, going 62-32-2 ATS (66%) overall. That puts him at a whopping 63% ATS (88-52-3) for the entire season. Dave has also posted a profitable 57% ATS on his Best Bets (32-24) for the season.

StatFox Gary

StatFox Gary joined the StatFox and Platinum Sheet staff prior to the 2010 football season, and subscribers were certainly happy he did: He proceeded to post a 55% success rate on NFL Best Bets in his "rookie" season. Gary also has a knack for college over/unders, finishing the bowl season 4-1 in his Best Bet totals. Gary has been on a roll in the past four weeks, going 8-3 ATS (73%) on his Best Bets, missing a perfect week by ½ point (Louisville -3½ won by 3 points versus Cincinnati). This has boosted Gary's season college football Best Bets mark to 17-12 (59% ATS).

StatFox Scott

StatFox Scott serves as Managing Editor for Stat-Fox and Platinum Sheet and the Edge Football Preview Guide, and is coming off a two-year college football run in which his Best Bets success rate was 56%. Scott picked up three easy wins in his college Best Bets this week with his picks winning by a combined score of 112 to 50. First he chose Notre Dame (+12) at Oklahoma, a 30-13 Irish win. He also took Utah (-1½) versus California in a game that ended in a 49-27 Utes rout, and expected Missouri to cover 14 points versus Kentucky. The Tigers rolled 33-10.

StatFox Brian

A featured writer on StatFox.com and for Platinum Sheet, StatFox Brian has yet to suffer a losing season of Platinum Sheet Best Bets in either college football, NFL, college basketball or NBA since coming on board in 2010. His most recent success earlier this calendar year was a 49-30 ATS record (62%) on college basketball Best Bet picks. Brian has been locked in with his Best Bets all year, but has been especially hot lately with an eye-popping 9-2 ATS mark in his past three weeks. That makes Brian 59.4% (19-13 ATS) on his Best Bets for the season.

StatFox Forecaster

By weighing several key factors, including recent statistical averages, schedule strength and home-field advantage, the StatFox Forecaster has proven to be an extremely successful longterm handicapping tool. It's most accurate once a season is underway, as evident by an ATS success rate of 61% (123-79-6) on all 2011 NFL regularseason games played between September 25 and the end of the calendar year. Forecaster continues to thrive in college football, posting a winning ATS mark on featured games so far in 2012.

Statfox College Football Outplay Factor Rating Lines - Week 10

 The Outplay Factor Ratings made famous by StatFox are a great Team Strength Indicator as they provide a quantitative measure of how teams are outplaying (+ value) or being outplayed by (- value) their opponents. They are determined by a complicated formula that takes into account a team's points for/against as compared to how their previous opponents have fared. Here are the StatFox Team Outplay Factor Ratings and the corresponding game lines derived from them. Note that the point edge between the Outplay Factor Rating Line and the actual opening line is denoted for the team with the edge. Use the W/L column to keep track of the winners and losers.

StatFox Dave

StatFox Dave is one of the original four founders of StatFox and over the years has been renowned for his handicapping prowess in all sports. Anyone who signed up for our NBA postseason Best Bets certainly knows that to be true, as Dave racked up a 59% success rate on all picks (including a perfect 5-0 in the NBA Finals) and an astounding 66% success rate on Best Bets during the NBA postseason. Dave also knows his pigskin, finishing better than 52% in all college football games last year, capping off his season with a 4-1 Best Bets ATS mark in the bowl games.

StatFox Gary

StatFox Gary joined the StatFox and the Platinum Sheet staff prior to the 2010 football season, and subscribers were certainly happy he did: He proceeded to post a 55% success rate on NFL Best Bets in his "rookie" season. Gary also has a knack for college over/unders, finishing the bowl season 4-1 in his Best Bet totals. Football isn't the only sport at which Garv excels, as he finished the 2011-12 college basketball regular season with a 156-99-1 (61%) record on all picks, which included a gaudy 54-25 record against the spread (68%) on college basketball Best Bets.

StatFox Scott

StatEox Scott serves as Managing Editor for Stat-Fox. Platinum Sheet and the Edge Football Preview Guide, and is coming off a 2011 college football season in which he was 53% against the spread on Platinum Sheet Best Bets. That followed a 2010 season in which his college football Best Bets success rate was 59%. Scott also had a strong NFL playoff run, going 7-4 ATS (64%). Not merely a one-sport pony, Scott had a 2011-12 college basketball regular season for the ages: He racked up a whopping 56-23 ATS record (71%) on Best Bets.

StatFox Brian

A featured writer on Stat-Fox.com and for Platinum Sheet, StatFox Brian has yet to suffer a losing season of Platinum Sheet Best Bets in either college football, NFL, college basketball or NBA since coming on board in 2010. His most recent success earlier this calendar year was a 49-30 record (62%) against the spread on college basketball Best Bet picks. It was a performance that did nothing to distract him from flexing his NBA muscle, however, as StatFox Brian racked up a 31-16 ATS record (66%) on NBA Best Bets prior to the February All-Star break.

StatFox Forecaster

By weighing several key factors, including recent statistical averages, schedule strength and home-field advantage, the StatFox Forecaster has proven to be an extremely successful long-term handicapping tool. It's most accurate once a season is underway, as evident by an ATS success rate of 61% (123-79-6) on all 2011 NFL regular-season games played between September 25 and the end of the calendar year. In the last NBA season. the Forecaster caught fire for a 200-game stretch between December and April, nailing better than 58% ATS (114-82-4).
